

U. S. PREPARED TO COAL MINERS' STRIKE

By David Lawrence, (Special Correspondent of The News-Semitar.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—If the coal operators persist in an attitude of obstruction and refuse to accept the government's plan for a commission to arbitrate the controversy with the miners, and if, as a result of that refusal, the miners quit work in any large numbers, the full power of the federal government will be used to prosecute the coal operators for conspiracy to curtail production. The Lever law, which has been used to enjoin the miners from striking, would be used against the operators.

But it is confidently hoped by the government that no such extreme course will be necessary. The interesting thing, however, is that at the department of justice a clear case against the operators is built up which alleges that if the operators maintain attitude of refusal to accept a commission of arbitration they would be guilty of having trapped the miners into going back to work and then declining to live up to the spirit of their pledges and written statements.

The operators declare the commission is too small and they have inquired whether the government would accept an enlargement of the commission. The government will not agree to any such enlargement in personnel, but it will do so would require another session of the miners and all the difficulties of the operators would be faced again. There is no objection on the part of the government to an increase in personnel if the three men designated on the commission should agree to such an enlargement, but at present the operators refuse to the plan as submitted to the miners.

On the other hand, it is quite possible that the three men could select any number of advisers they choose, and that the president could be asked to appoint or voting power will remain in the hands of the operators. The operators are of the opinion that they can get back on a commission of arbitration, but the government is of the opinion that they cannot.

It is interesting to note that the operators are of the opinion that they can get back on a commission of arbitration, but the government is of the opinion that they cannot.

RAILROADS WILL GO BACK TO WORK MARCH 1

Date Fixed by President in Official Proclamation and American Railway Express Company Will Be Dissolved.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Control and operation of the nation's railroads, assumed by the government as a war measure two years ago tomorrow, will revert to the owners of the railroad properties next March 1 unless congress by legislation fixes an earlier date.

President Wilson, through a proclamation issued last night fixing March 1 as the date of their return, put at rest the speculation as to the time of the handing back of the roads. The president in his last announcement regarding the return, made in an address to congress in May, said he intended to turn back the roads at the end of the present year.

By another proclamation, issued with that in regard to the railroads, the president ordered the dissolution of the American Railway Express Company, which was formed July 1, 1918, under government direction by consolidation of the Adams, American, Wells-Fargo and Southern companies.

Extension by two months of the announced time for return of the railroads was made, said a statement from the White House accompanying the proclamation, because congress had not enacted legislation to meet conditions incident to the change in control and operation of the railroads.

Some members predicted any announcement of the pending bill in some form would enable a return prior to March 1. The Bee-Cummins bill, now in conference between the senate and house for adjustment of differences, would return the roads at the end of the calendar month in which it was approved.

Extension of the time before the return, leaders said, would allow control of the railroads to pass to the hands of the government, and this fact together with the prospective struggle between the government and the railroads, would be a guarantee of provisions, some members said, might work to prevent final enactment during January. This would result in the roads being turned back on the date designated by the president.

Year's Illness Fatal to Former Supreme Justice A. S. Buchanan

Judge A. S. Buchanan, until Jan. 1, 1918, justice of the supreme court of Tennessee, one of Memphis' best known citizens, died at his home, 1531 Peachtree street, Thursday morning shortly after 7 o'clock following an illness which has extended over 12 months. Judge Buchanan was 82 years of age. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Friends of Judge Buchanan are of the opinion that the strenuous work of the supreme bench, a duty which he conscientiously fulfilled over a period of more than seven years, resulted in his death.

Judge Buchanan is survived by his widow. One brother died several years ago. He has no other close relatives.

For the past two years Judge Buchanan has devoted his time to legal matters of several local and Mississippi institutions and corporations. He resigned his position as supreme justice Jan. 1, 1918, and since has been legal counsel for the Quarry Bank Trust company, Delta Plantation company and the Delta Land company.

While on the supreme bench Judge Buchanan decided many notable legal cases and cases. He was a well known figure in the courts and established several precedents.

His father, John Buchanan, was born near Hernando, DeSoto county, Miss., on Aug. 14, 1836, the son of a pioneer settler. He was educated at the University of Mississippi and in 1859 received his degree in law. He was admitted to the bar of Mississippi. After four years' practice he was elected clerk of the court.

In 1887 Judge Buchanan moved to Memphis and four years later married Miss Elizabeth L. Loomis, daughter of R. F. Loomis.

Nine years almost in the law before he was elected justice of the supreme court of Tennessee. He was appointed to the supreme bench by Governor W. D. Hooper and served for 12 years.

Judge Buchanan was a member of the Tennessee bar association, the Memphis Country club, the Commercial club, and a member of numerous other organizations. He was a Baptist.

His death was a great loss to the state. He was a well known figure in the courts and established several precedents.

CRIMINALS INCREASE SCHOOL TAX LEVY

The first act of the incoming administration, when the new commissioners take office Jan. 1, will be to take immediate steps with the view to raising the salaries of the teachers in the city schools. An ordinance will be introduced at the first meeting increasing the city tax levy for schools during 1920 sufficiently to make possible the increases desired by the board of education, but which have been impossible under the present school levy in the city of 50 cents on the $100.

The school board's latest estimate of the amount needed to make the raises in salaries contemplated, which is said to meet the approval also of the teachers themselves, is $150,000. If this amount is added to the present school tax levy it will mean an increase in the school tax levy of about 15 cents.

The validity of the ordinance will be tested in a friendly suit and pressure brought to bear to get an early decision from the courts. It is the view that the ordinance will be upheld by the courts.
